Boulder & Lead

- Athletes compete in two stages that are combined into a single ranking. The event comprises three phases, Qualification, Semifinal and Final, each with a Boulder and a Lead stage.
- 20 athletes progress from Qualification to Semifinals. In case of tie for the 20th place, both will progress to the Semifinals.
- At the end of the Semifinal phase, the eight highest ranked athletes progress to the Final phase. The athlete with the highest Final ranking, combining points from Boulder and Lead stages, will win the competition. Points are not carried over from the Semifinal phase to the Final phase.

Speed

Qualification

- Each athlete may make two runs, one on Lane A (the left lane) and one on Lane B (the right lane). Any athlete failing to make at least one attempt will not be ranked in the phase.
- The starting order for the seeding heats is randomised. Half the start list start on Lane A, the second half on Lane B, changing lanes after the first run.
- Any athlete recording a False Start will be ranked last in the phase. However, they will not keep their other race result (obtained in Lane A or Lane B) to split their ranking.

Final Phase

- The Final phase consists of a series of elimination rounds: 1/8 Finals, Quarterfinals, Semifinals, Finals (Small and Big Final).
- In each round, the winner of each heat progresses to the next round and the loser is eliminated.
